EFFORTS TO SAVE FUNK

A Further Stay of Execution Asked for the Condemned Man.

Petition That the Record of the Case He Sent to the United States Supreme Court for Review-Grounds

A final effort was made yesterday by Messrs. Baker & Wolf, counsel for Frank W. Funk, who is sentenced to be hanged on June 29, to stay the execution. Some dres ago seen ofter the Court of Appeals for the District had affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court of the District, and refused to grant Funk a new trial, his attorneys gave notice that they would file an torneys gave notice that they would file an application for a writ of error. On the day Capt. John H. Pickell, at my request. of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The three principal grounds upon which the petition for the writ for certiorari is based are, first, the alleged incompetency Assessor's office in not advising me of the of one of the jurors because of his having passed the legal age of service during the trial; second, the refusal of the trial court to admit certain testimony to be offered to the jury, and lastly, because of remarks made by Thomas H. Anderson, District At-torney, while making the closing argu-

Funk was convicted of murdering William H. Brooks on the afternood of June 23, 1898. He was sentenced to be honged on May 11 last, but because of his appeal on May II last, but because of his appear to the Court of Appeals for the District he was respited until June 15. On account of the delay in handing down the mandate of the latter court the date of the execution was further postponed until June 29 next.

Competence of the Jury. In presenting objection to the manner of determining the qualification of talesmen to serve as jurors, the record states: When a talesman said that he had formed an opinion, but that that opinion would not affect his verdict, the court permitted full enquiry into the exact status of the talesman's mind, but when a talesman said that he could qualify his verdict in some cases, the court refused to permit your petitioner to find out what those

"That on this account your petitione "That on this account your pentioner was deprived of an impartial jury on the question of punishments, and was compelled to go to trial with a jury who would, if they found him guilty, find him guilty as indicted without any qualification of the verdict. That one of said talesmen, Frederick Harrenberg, was absolutely disqualified, he saying that he did not stand indifferent between the two penalties, death and imprisonment for life, and your petitioner was obliged to use a peremptory challenge on him, and after exhausting all of his peremptory chal-lenges, a jury, as above constituted, was

"Your petitioner avers that the above errors in refusing to permit your petition er to obtain a jury impartial on the ques tion of punishment, was grave and manifest error on the part of the court, and destroys the effect of the act of Congress, and raises a question of such important and general nature that this court ough to grant the writ of certiorari to sai Court of Apper ., that said question in-volves the constitutional right of the de-fendant to be tried by an impartial jury. and the rulings of the court at the trial of your petitioner amounted to a refusal by said court of a right given your petiner under said Constitution.

Not a Legal Jury.

"Your petitioner further avers that he was not tried by a jury given him by the Constitution of the United States and the common law, but that said jury, for the at the District jail since his confinement in reasons aforesaid, and also for the reason that your petitioner was convicted over his objection and exception by a jury con-sisting of but eleven competent jurors. one of said jurors being a non-juror at the time of the rendering of the verdict; that said incompetency of said juror was not merely a disqualification for which he might be challenged, but said juror was absolutely incompetent to act at the time of the rendition of the verdict, he being of the age of sixty-five or over, and sec-tion 782 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia enacting as following:

No person shall be competent to act as a mless he be a citizen of the United Sta-esident of the District of Columbia, over t one and under sixty-five years of age.

The juror referred to reached the sixty fifth year of his age five days after the trial was begun. Counsel for the defendant at that time raised objection to his serving longer as a juror, but the objection was overruled. The record further says that "the statute makes said juror absolutely incompetent to act as a juror and the dia-ability is not merely one for challenge. Under the law a talesman over this age is never presented to either party for consid-eration, but the court dismisses him on the ground of absolute incompetency.

Improper Language Used. "Your petitioner avers that said Cour of Appeals also erred in not holding that the court below committed error in permitting the counsel for the Government over the objection of the defendant to use improper, violent, and inflamed language to influence the jury in their deliberation. The words used by the attorney for the vernment were as follows; called a good time. What did he do? We fishing gentlemen, on the race course, rambling away his ill-gotten gains; we find him nest clating with level women, committing adultery adding to his miserable record of crime day his day. How this man has escaped the clutches of the law this long God only knows; but I say to you, gentlemen, that the time has come and is now here when this desperate man must be arrested in his murderous career. Allow such criminals as this to run abroad, and whose home is safe? It may be that some day when you go hack to your own homes, expecting that everything will be calm and sevene and everybody well at home, that some such wretch as this may have got in his bloody work. He may have struck down your wife, your daugsler, or your son, or may have ruised your home, blasted your life, and brought a great disgrace and horror upon he shole community. What would you do under uch cliffcumstances? He did leave Washington, and he had what halled a good time. What did he do? We fine

"These words charged your petitioner with having a miserable record for crime, to which he was adding day by day; which statement was not substantiated by any evidence in the case, and then the atttor-ney says, 'How this man has escaped the clutches of the law this long God only knows,' and then he says to the jury that the time has come for them to arrest this desperate man in his murderous career.

Unwarranted by Evidence.

"This language implies that your petitioner had been a murderer prior to the time charged in the indictment, and that he had been a desperate man, and that the time had come when he should be pun-ished, not for the crime for which he was indicted, but for his murderous career. There was no evidence in the case that warranted any statement that the defendant was a desperate man—not a scintilla devidence to warrant the assertion that the defendant has had a murderous career. Murderous career, as defined by the best authorities, means a general course of murderous action or movement—a specific course of murderous action or occu-pation, forming the object of one's life. Nothing in the record shows that prior to the time of the commission of the offence in the indictment the defendant had ever assaulted, injured, or hurt anyone, or had ever murdered or attempted to

'After making this unwarranted attack on the personal character of your peti-tioner, the attorney for the Government inflamed the passions of the jury by trying to bring home to their own doors the crime as alleged in the indictment. The attor-ney for the Government, in substance, says to the jury to the jury:

"Consider this case your own; consider that your own wife had been struck down or that your own daughter had been mur-dered or your own home ruined or your own life blasted, and by the defendant at on Which the Prayer Is Based-Al-that, and then determine, gentlemen of the jury, what you will do with this

OBJECTS TO THE PENALTY.

Mr. Schreiner Thinks the Assessor's

Office at Fault. P. M Schreiner, of Jill Q Street northwest, recently wrote to the Commissioners requesting that certain tax bills unpaid since 1894 be permitted to be settled without the penalties that have accrued.

set for the hearing of argument on this called at the Tax Office of the District and matter it was determined not to pursue asked for all bills of every nature at that this course, but it file a petition in the Sutime due on part of lot 14, square 70, preme Court of the United States for a writ of certiforari to the Court of Appeals for the paying every tax incumbrance then existing on the property. Now, to my surprise District, asking that the whole record in the case be sent to the upper court. This petition was filed yesterday with the clerk enclosing another bill amounting to $19.50 due against the above mentioned property, pertaining to the year ending June 30, 1894, to which is added a penalty amounting to $18.49.
"While I consider it the fault of the > taxes due for 1894 when I applied to it for a full list of the indebtedness against this property in 1897, I am perfectly willing to pay any taxes on said property shown not to have been paid before. It is the penalty that I think is unfair, and therefore 1 appeal to the Commissioners to deduct all penalties on this tax bill of $19.50 for the year 1894, except such sum as is legally chargeable thereto up to April 5, 1897, when my representative applied in person to the Tax Collector for all bills against this property and paid at that time. The failure of the Tax Office to make out this bill of 1894 when offer was made to the Tax Collector to pay all of the tax in-debtedness against this property should a large penalty for the non-payment of a tax that she did not know existed, and which sum was not included in the bills when full payment was proffered and sup-posed to have been made on April 5, 1897." In reporting to the Commissioners on this application H. H. Darnellle, the As-sessor, says: "The matter has been given attention, and the facts in the case are that Mr. Schreiner's representative was given a bill at that time for the current year of 1897, and a bill in arrearages for 1896, leaving the bill of 1894 due. It seems that these two bills were made out by different clerks and on the same day, and it is possible that the bill in question was made out at the same time and mis-laid. Therefore, accepting in good faith the intention of Mr. Schreiner to pay all alty to April 5, 1897, be accepted in liquidation of the arrears bill for the year 1894 against the property."

The report of the Assessor has been approved by the Commissioners, and Mr. Schreiner will be informed in accordance

GRAND JURY FINDINGS.

Indictments Returned for Various Alleged Offences.

Among the persons against whom indictments were returned yesterday by the grand jury was J. Frank McKenna, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretences. When called for arraignment McKenna asked that a copy of the indit-ment be furnished him, because he stated that he will probably conduct his own de-fence. While in the court the prisoner took occasion to complain to Justice Ca-baugh, presiding in Criminal Court No. 1. of the manuer in which he has been treated treated badly, and on two occasions has been confined in the "dungeca" and other-wise illy treated. The accurations against the warden of the jail are not seriously considered, because it has been stated that his mind has been unbalanced for some time. In fact, several days ago it was stated that McKenna became so violent that the warden had to put him under restraint, and his mental condition was re-ported to the Secretary of the Interior. On more than one-occasion since he has been committed to jail it is said that McKenna has become so violent as to make it neces-sary to place him under restraint to per-vent him from doing himself personal harm. Among the others against whom indict-pents were returned are Joseph P. Samp-ell, violation of the law of the age of consent; Josiah Smallwood, housebreiking William Quill, assault with intent to kill: Warren, Sylvester Miles, and Ran dolph Bailey.

YALE CREW IMPROVING. Better Work Being Done in the Training. GALES FERRY, Conn., June 19.-Th Vale eight has made great improvement since it came to the Thames two weeks ago, and even the coaches have been greatly surprised at the good work of the men, as they were rowing in very poor form when they left New Haven. The final crew that will row in the big race has not been chosen. In fact, there has been a change in the make-up of the crew almost every day since they arrived here. Dr. Gallaudet has been steadily shifting the men from one position to another. Williams, the stroke oar of '98 and '99 crews, has been put at bow. He has not done well at "my of the other positions at which he has been tried, and for a time it looked as if he would not make the craw. and it is almost an assured fact that he

Kunzig is the best man so far discovered for No. 4. He is a particularly strong one, and from all appearances should make the boat. Capiain Allen is certain of his place at No. 6. Blagden and Camermon are the only men that have a chance for No. 7 and stroke. Brock and Cros are making a great fight for No. 5. Both men are of the same class of oarsmen, and at present it's a toss up who gets the position.

It is impossible to even guess who will row in the varsity four, on account of the many changes in the varsity eight. Coach Gallaudet will pick his men as soon as he gets the eight on the water, and rowing in a satisfactory manner.

Funeral Flowers in Court.

(From the Boston Herald.)

The question as to whether flowers are a necessary feature of a funeral is a queer one to behavought into the courts, but it has engaged the attention of the highest judicial tribunal in Riode Island, all the same, where the payment of the bill of a florist was resisted by the administrators of the estate of a decrared citizen at whose funeral flowers were furnished on the credit of the estate. The court now justifies this expenditure, remarking that the custom of having flowers at fune als as well night universal in this country, and when not abused by extravagance or unseemly calculation, it is certainly to be commended as giving appropriate expression to our feelings of respect and love for the departed.

HALLWOODS VS. MANTELLS.

The Cash Register Men Win a Hard

Fought Come. The Hallwoods and Mantells gave their first exhibition of the season in a wonderfully played game of ball at National Park yesterday afternoon. The make-up of the nines included some well-known gentle-men prominent in business circles, though not familiar figures on the diamond.

The occasion was enlivened with musi by the Light Infantry Band. Many friends of the contestants, ladies and gentlemen, were present and prominently conspicuous as rooters. This part of the entertain-ment was fully up to the scientific stand-ard. The game furnished opportunities for excitement by reason of the neck and neck race for victory. The Hallwoods scored their first run in the second in-ning, the result of two bases on balls and

In the third inning the Mantells made four singles, which netted them three runs. They also scored one in the fourth and one in the fifth, the score standing at the end of their half of the fifth 5 to 1. It looked to be their game in a walk, as the cash register gentlemen up to that time had only made three hits and scored one run; but in their half of this inning they got onto Mr. Cochran's delivery and after the third man had been retired the sethe third man had been retired the ac-count showed that the Hallwoods had ac-cumulated seven hits and six runs, which put them two in the majority.

In the sixth the Mantells made two ad-ditional runs, tleing the score, but the cash register men scored two additional eash register men scored two additional runs, again taking the lead, but were again tied in the first half of the seventh. The Hallwoods scored three runs in the last half of the seventh, winning the game runs, again taking the lead, but were by the score of 12 to 9, when the game was called.

The score by innings:

Hallwoods ...... 0 1 0 0 6 2 3 12 16 4 Mantella ...... 0 0 3 1 1 2 2 9 13 3 Batteries—Lee and Kendall; Cochran and Mc-Millan. Umpire—Mr. Rudolph Jose.
